Supplier Declaration - EHS Regulations, Dodd Frank Act. / BOPLA

Dear Sir or Madam,

Herewith we confirm that none of the Dodd Frank Act listed so called conflict minerals are necessary for the production or the function of Bopla products.

Preventively we point out, that we cannot preclude the presence of traces of those materials, a.o. due to impurities of the raw materials or the production procedure. The presence of the listed materials is not expected, resp. only expected in not relevant amount concentrations. Due to that, the presence is not analytically controlled.

All information given by BOPLA or in the name of BOPLA, are based on datas of the suppliers and producers of the materials. BOPLA uses only products produced by BOPLA (Phoenix Mecano) related companies, or well known business partners. Only BOPLA specific alloys are used. This is audited on regular basis.

BOPLA considers these information as reliable, but supplies these information without liability

We transfer these information to the best of our knowledge and belief based on todays level of information.

For further questions do not hesitate to get in touch with us please.

With best regards
